SITUATION AT DANVILLE IS BECOMING QUIETER

By Associated Press.

Danville, Ills., July 27.—Part of the state militia sent here following Sunday night's bloody riot were ordered home today but two companies will remain until all danger of trouble is passed. Threats are being made of what will happen when the last of the troops leave. All the wounded are recovering.

... MANCHURIA.

A Large Interest Shown in Eastern Affairs.

Russia's Attitude Is Roundly Denounced—The Graphic Thinks Matters May Become Serious.

By Associated Press.

London, July 28.—Manchurian affairs occupy a great deal of attention in the London papers this morning. Besides an interview with the Japanese minister repeating the statements made at the Japanese legation last Friday to a representative of the Associated Press to the effect that Japan's policy was to wait and watch the Russian developments in the east, all the dailies reproduce an Associated Press interview with Mr. Hartwig, of the Russian foreign office. The latter attracts much comment. Comparisons are drawn between the peaceful and dignified attitude of the Japanese officials and the "insulting provocative character" of the remarks of the Russian director, whose statements are regarded as demanding a disavowal on the part of the Russian government.

The Graphic says:

"Unless he (the director) is taken severely to task the situation will become exceedingly dire for Japan is not likely to sit quiet under the threat of annihilation."

The Chronicle takes a milder view, and thinks, stripped of phraseology, that the director's statements on the whole make for peace on the ground that he gives very clear and solid assurances about the proposed open ports and that "it is needless to pay much attention to his claim for straightforward honesty on the part of Russia and duplicity on the part of Great Britain."

The Times this morning prints a Tokio dispatch which says that the leading Japanese journals regard the increase in the Russian military and naval forces in the far east as merely intended to intimidate and that they write in a calm confident one.

TWO MORE FAILURES ON NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

By Associated Press.

New York, July 27.—In spite of, or probably because of two additional failures on the stock exchange—E. S. Hooley & Co. of this city and William Bassett of Boston—today's stock market showed very general improvement and the situation as a whole was viewed with more cheerfulness. The Hooley failure was regarded as an inevitable sequel to that of W. L. Stow & Co., which came last Friday. The failure of Mr. Bassett was wholly unimportant—one of the day's incidents.

The Bassett failure announced at noon excited hardly any attention. So far as could be learned Mr. Bassett had no outstanding contracts in this city.

The assignee of Hooley & Co. would make no statement for publication and it was impossible to learn the extent of the obligations. In conservative circles the liabilities are placed at about $3,000,000. It is known that Hooley & Co. had offers of help from high quarters, but deemed it advisable to decline. The firm of Hooley & Co. was organized in June, 1902, and consists of Edwin S. Hooley, Frank E. Brumley and Norbert Heinsheimer. They acquired control of Evansville & Terre Haute two years ago. Hooley and W. T. Stow were the dominant figures in Des Moines & Fort Dodge leased to the Rock Island road in 1887 for 18 years.

INTERESTING REVELATIONS IN THE TRIAL OF POLICE OFFICERS KING AND ATKINSON

Son of Denver & Rio Grande Attorney Saw Leader of Duff Gang and Persuaded Him to Give Some Balance of McNellis' Money to Amount of $25.

The trial of Chief of Police King and Detective Atkinson which was begun in the criminal court yesterday brought out startlingly the evidence on which the grand jury returned the indictments against them.

The statement of Patrick McNellis, admitted as evidence, taken in connection with the testimony of Attorney N. S. Gandy shows that McNellis was induced to leave the city upon condition that he received $25 of the amount fleeced from him and that King and Atkinson conferred with A. Duff, the leader of the pickpockets and obtained the balance of the amount after they had been told to do so by Attorney Gandy representing the Denver & Rio Grande railway.

The trial began at 9:30 and after several unimportant matters were gone into for the purpose of clearing the record, the examination of the jury was taken up. The charges against the defendants were consolidated and they are being tried on all charges in one case, and evidence tending to show their complicity in the confidence game conducted by Duff and his gang is admitted along with testimony tending to show that they spirited McNellis out of the city in order to protect Duff and his gang from arrest and prosecution.

Under the law King and Atkinson will be declared guilty of a misdemeanor in case they are found guilty and in such cases the law provides that each side is entitled to six challenges. These challenges were completed by 2:30 in the afternoon, the defense making use of all challenges while the prosecution waived the right to challenge in two instances.

The statement made by McNellis contained in the affidavit made by the district attorney was first offered in evidence and read to the jury. The facts mentioned in this statement are before the jury the same as if McNellis gave them in person.

First Witness

C. A. Williams, colored, was the first witness called. In substance his testimony was as follows: "I was at the Denver & Rio Grande station on the morning McNellis was robbed. I was detailed there to look after a man supposed to be on the train, and while I was looking for him I saw Duff, a man named Rose and another named Deacon, all pickpockets, get off the rear end of the train. They ran for the Huerfano street viaduct and disappeared in the dark. Later I saw McNellis who said he had been robbed. I could not go after the men who who had done it however, for the reason that I had to make a report on the other matter. When I went to headquarters I mentioned the matter and told the officer in charge that I saw Duff and several members of his gang and was certain they were the ones who got the money. The next day I mentioned the same thing to Chief King."

Ex-Police Officer William Showell followed and said he had accompanied McNellis to police headquarters for the purpose of reporting the robbery and had later told Chief King that he believed Duff and his gang performed the job. He said also that he asked King what he was going to do about it, and that King replied he would look into it.

Attorney N. S. Gandy was the next witness called. His testimony was the most sensational and startling. It is reported further on, completely. After his testimony had closed, the prosecution rested and the defense began the introduction of witnesses. They called John Rowen, a police officer of Colorado City who accompanied McNellis to police headquarters on the morning of the robbery. He was called for the purpose of testifying as to what McNellis had said to him.

When this question was asked Attorney George Gardner who is acting as special prosecutor in the case, objected and asked for time within which to present arguments in support of his objection.

Prosecution Objects

Judge Seeds then took an adjournment for 15 minutes, at the end of which time Mr. Gardner returned. In support of his objection he said: "I object to this question for the reason that by it the defense seeks to get from the lips of this man something that has not already been introduced in evidence, namely, the story of McNellis. That story is before the jury direct from the lips of McNellis himself. For while he is not here the defense has agreed that if he were here he would testify exactly as the statement which is now before the jury. What is the purpose of this witness? He cannot add anything to that story. Anything that he might state would be hearsay, and the court would have to trust to the veracity and honesty not only of the witness on the stand but of McNellis and the authorities generally hold that such evidence is inadmissible.

"Further, I object to this question on the grounds that if it is asked for the purpose of contradicting something that is contained in McNellis' testimony. If that is the reason and there can be no other, it is sought to impeach the testimony of McNellis with the testimony of this witness, and I submit that that cannot be done without having first laid the foundation for impeachment in a cross examination of McNellis. And it is no argument to say that there could be no cross-examination for the reason that the defense waived cross-examination when they agreed to admit the testimony, and if they have made a mistake it is not our fault. We must abide by the rules of evidence and we insist that the same shall be done by the defense."

Judge Seeds interrupted at this point, saying that he wished to hear the authorities on which the argument was being made. Mr. Trowbridge answered that he and Mr. Gardner had been unable to get the authorities completely and asked for further time. An adjournment was taken until 9:30 this morning when the argument will be taken up again, and the authorities cited. Upon the decision of this point much depends. If the objection is overruled the defense will be able to introduce witnesses who will swear away the statement made by McNellis, without giving the prosecution any opportunity to rebut it with a further statement from him. If it is sustained it will compel the attorneys for the defense to abide by the result of their action in admitting McNellis' statement and thereby waiving cross-examination.

Gandy's Testimony

Examined by Mr. Trowbridge.

Q. State your full name? A. Newton S. Gandy.

Q. You are a practicing attorney of this city? A. I am.

Q. How long have you resided here? A. Thirteen years.

Q. You are a member of the law firm of McAllister & Gandy? A. I am.

Q. Was your firm communicated with concerning this man McNellis? A. Yes sir.

Q. Did you after receiving such communication take up the matter with the defendants in this case? A. I did.

Q. Just tell the jury what communications you had with the defendants who were present and what you said and what they said—about when was this first? A. I received our first letter about the first of October; that is the first part of October, some time after the 6th of October last.

Q. What did you do after receiving that letter, what communication did you have with the defendants? A. I called up the police department and talked either with Mr. Atkinson or Mr. King, I don't remember which.

Q. What did you tell them? A. I told them we had received a communication in regard to this McNellis affair and wanted to see them about it.

Q. Did they come to your office? A. They came to our office.

Q. Both of them together? A. They were there two or three times. They were there together twice and I think each one of them separately once.

The Court: What is that? They were there twice together and I believe, once separately, each one of them.

Q. Tell the jury what you told the defendants and what they replied to you? A. I told them—

Mr. Morris: I want to ask this question. Did they act under your suggestion as an attorney as their legal adviser in the matter? A. No sir.

Asked to Investigate

Mr. Trowbridge: Go on, there is no objection. A. I of course told them that we were attorneys for the Rio Grande Railroad company and that we had been asked by the general counsel Wolcott, Vaile & Waterman to investigate this affair, and asked them what there was to it. They told me that Mr. McNellis had reported to them that he had lost $150 on the train, had been buncoed out of it I believe, the word they used or something of that kind and that upon the report to them by McNellis of this fact that Mr. Atkinson had looked into it and had secured the return of a part of the money to Mr. McNellis.

Q. Did he say how much? A. Twenty-five dollars.

Q. From whom did he say they got it? A. They stated that they got that from a man by the name of Duff. I asked them how they come to get it from him, and they stated that Mr. Duff was the agent for a gang of confidence men who had been operating here before during that same year, and I told them that the company wanted to get the balance of the money for Mr. McNellis. They stated that they had gone to Duff and reported the facts to him and that he had returned to them the $25 which they had given to McNellis, and that McNellis had left the city.

Q. Go on from that point. A. I told them that the company wanted to secure the balance of the money to return to the boy and had instructed us to make a full investigation of the matter. They told me that they knew this man Duff represented this gang and that the firm of

"THEY, (KING AND ATKINSON) STATED THAT THEY HAD GONE TO DUFF AND REPORTED THE FACTS TO HIM AND THAT HE HAD RETURNED THE $25 WHICH THEY HAD GIVEN M'NELLIS."

"THEY CAME A DAY OR TWO LATER AND SAID THEY HAD SECURED THE BALANCE OF THE MONEY FROM MR. DUFF AND WOULD PAY IT OVER ON CERTAIN CONDITIONS. THE CONDITIONS WERE THAT NO FURTHER PROCEEDINGS WOULD BE TAKEN AND NOTHING WOULD BE DONE IN THE MATTER."

"WHO DID THEY SAY THERE SHOULD BE NO PROSECUTION AGAINST?"

"THEMSELVES."

King and Atkinson First Demanded That There Should Be No Prosecution "of Any Kind," but on Second Thought Asked That It Be Kept From Newspapers.

APPROPRIATION BILL ... SIGNED

Suspicion of Validity of State Fair Item.

Governor Peabody Has Delayed Signing the Measure Until Matter Is Investigated.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, July 27.—The general appropriation bill will not be signed by the governor until tomorrow evening if he reaches it by that time. The appropriation of $4,000 to the Pueblo State fair in the item in the general bill that causes the delay in signing.

Governor Peabody is of the opinion that this item if allowed to stand, might invalidate the bill and compel still another extra session to get the bill passed in conformity with constitutional provision. The matter has been referred to Attorney-General Miller and he has instructed his assistant, Mr. Melville, to look up the law on the case and to report at the earliest time possible. Mr. Melville does not expect that he can consult all the authorities necessary before tomorrow evening.

The statute says that the appropriation bill shall contain the expenses of the legislative, judicial and executive departments. Governor Peabody and his advisors say they cannot see how the Pueblo State fair could be brought under any of these three heads. The governor thinks that to allow this provision to stand would invalidate the bill and not desiring to take the risk, he has practically decided to veto the item. Attorney-General Miller expresses the opinion that this appropriation will not stand. There was some question at the time of the introduction of the amendment to the appropriation bill providing for the Pueblo appropriation as to its validity. The attorney-general's department declares that the author of the amendment in the senate failed to get an opinion upon its legality and that the legal department of the state is in no way responsible for the present entanglement.

COLOMBIA ... AFFAIR AT PANAMA

By Associated Press.

Washington, July 27.—Dr. Herran, Colombian charge d'affaires here having received no official information from his government regarding the troubles at Panama was not prepared today to express an opinion as to the situation there. But with reference to the report from Bogota to the effect that the Colombian congress was discussing the question of the creation of mints and the adoption of the gold standard, he said:

"The question of the establishing of mints and the adoption of the gold standard did not appear among the subjects mentioned by President Marroquin in convoking congress in extraordinary session, and I am at a loss to understand why they should be taken up. In fact there are already three mints in Colombia."

An opinion expressed outside of the Colombian legation concerning the affair at Panama is to the effect that the government at Bogota had determined to obtain a firm hold on the isthmus in view of the rumors of a feeling of unrest there due to the uncertainty as to the fate of the treaty.

CHINESE LABOR IN SAMOA

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Tutuila, Samoa, July 1, via San Francisco, July 27.—The experiment in importing Chinese labor by the German colony in German Samoa is not proving satisfactory. The planters are having considerable trouble with the coolies. Chinese laborers are tabooed in Tutuila. The old Samoan law prohibiting the landing of Chinese in Samoa is still applied in Tutuila and the islands under the protection of the United States and there is no single Chinaman in American Samoa.

Electric light wires were prostrated and ... the street cars were tied up.

POLITICAL REFORMERS IN CONVENTION IN DENVER

CARDINAL GIBBONS GIVEN MOST CORDIAL RECEPTION

By Associated Press.

Rome, July 27.—Almost all the cardinals of the conclave have now arrived. Their time today was mainly occupied with a lengthy meeting of the congregation, which was notable for the cordiality with which Cardinal Gibbons was received. After the meeting, the cardinals received numerous visits at their various residences.

In well informed circles Cardinal Angelo Di Pietro pro-datary of the late pope is being talked of as a compromise candidate in the event that Cardinals Oreglia, Gotti, Rampolla or Serafino Vannutelli fail to secure the necessary votes. Should Cardinal Pietro be elected pope he would, it is said, be the representative of the Rampolla-Gotti faction and yet would be fairly acceptable to all.

Cardinal Michael Logue, archbishop of Armagh, who with the exception of Cardinal Gibbons will be the only English-speaking cardinal in the conclave, arrived today from Ireland. He said he believed that the successor to Leo would be quickly chosen. In his case perhaps the hope is father to the thought, as he said he did not look forward with great pleasure to being shut up in the Vatican during the present hot weather.

Speaking of Cardinal Gibbons, the Irish cardinal paid him a glowing tribute, though like all the prelates here he held out no hope that the American would be elected.

Indeed, said Cardinal Logue, that Cardinal Gibbons would be a subject for commiseration if the selection should devolve upon him, for no American would care to spend the rest of his life confined within the precincts of the Vatican.

The Irish cardinal expressed the opinion that the question of sending a note to the powers protesting against the treatment of the vatican by the Italian government should be left to the next pope.

By Associated Press.

Denver, July 27.—About 40 of the leaders of the People's party and other political movements were present at the St. James hotel this afternoon when the conference of political reform leaders was called to order. The conference was called to order by J. A. Edgerton, secretary of the Populist national committee, who called the conference. He spoke briefly outlining the work which it was hoped to accomplish by the conference, the amalgamation of the various reform forces of the nation into one party.

Mr. Edgerton was made the permanent chairman of the conference with Milton Park of Texas as vice chairman and Frank J. Caldfield of Montana secretary. The afternoon was taken up in the work of organization and short addresses. The principal speech was made by former United States Senator W. V. Allen of Nebraska. Senator Allen favored a reorganization of the reform forces which should embrace the various factions now embracing practically the same political doctrines and differing mainly in regard to the methods.

At the evening session a committee was named to draft resolutions and an address to the people and report to the conference tomorrow afternoon. The committee is as follows: Ex-Senator W. V. Allen, chairman; H. S. Fetter, Illinois; J. M. Mallett, Texas; Judge Frank W. Owers, Colorado; Dr. R. H. Reemelin, Ohio; H. H. ..., Kansas, and W. A. Poynter, Nebraska.

The chairman, vice chairman and secretary were made a committee to nominate a committee on organization to undertake the work of forming a new party out of the reform forces of the country. The names selected are to be reported to the conference tomorrow.

The rest of the session was devoted to short speeches containing suggestions for the resolutions committee.

MEETING OF HYDROGRAPHIC AND HYDRAULIC EXPERTS

An Important Conference in Session in Denver to Arrange Plans for Reservoirs Authorized by National Irrigation Act Passed by Congress.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, July 27.—A meeting is in progress tonight at the chamber of commerce of hydraulic and hydrographic experts under authority of the federal government, to discuss subjects pertaining to the reclamation of arid lands by means of reservoirs and dams.

The discussions today were of a preliminary character, the engineers present spending their time in reviewing the situation as revealed by maps and charts. It is expected that the session which will last for a week will arrange plans for the immediate construction of one or more of the reservoirs authorized by the recent irrigation law passed by the national congress.

Among those present are F. H. Newell, chief engineer of the reclamation service of Washington, D. C.; A. P. Davis of Phoenix, Ariz.; H. A. Storrs of the electrical division of the hydrographer's department at Washington; L. H. Taylor of Reno, Nev.; J. H. Quinton of Los Angeles; I. W. Ross of Boise City, Ida.; C. H. Fitch of Washington, D. C.; John E. Field of Denver, now operating in Wyoming; George Y. Wisner of Detroit, Mich.; A. L. Fellows, superintendent of the Gunnison tunnel and in charge of the work in Colorado.

These gentlemen are all connected with the hydrographic department of the United States geological survey and are acting under the authority of the interior department following the provisions of the recent law passed by congress providing for the construction of storage reservoirs throughout the arid west. It is their duty to examine all sites for proposed reservoirs, to make estimates upon cost of construction and to ascertain the amount of land which can be reclaimed through such reservoir construction. The party has now in its possession data upon a large number of proposed reservoirs in the Rocky Mountain region. At the present session this data will all be arranged and a report will be forwarded to Washington exhaustively treating each of the projects.

NEW CURE FOR DEMENTIA.

By Associated Press.

New York, July 27.—Ten days ago Mrs. Bridget Hurley of Bayonne, N. J., who was ill and demented, was leaning out of a window on the third floor of her home. She lost her balance and fell to the stone pavement. No doubt was felt by the hospital physicians that the shock would prove fatal. Now they have discovered that it has restored her lost powers and it is believed she will recover from her physical injuries.

When her husband found she could talk to him rationally he wept for joy.

WASHINGTON BOOKBINDERS RAISE A NOVEL QUESTION

By Associated Press.

Washington, July 27.—There was a long discussion at a meeting tonight at Typographical hall of the situation arising over the reinstatement of W. A. Miller the assistant foreman of the bindery in the government printing office who had been discharged because he had been expelled from the Bookbinders' union. The meeting was attended by two representatives of the International Bookbinders Brotherhood, Messrs. J. W. Dougherty, its general secretary, and J. A. Fapey, the secretary-treasurer, by the presidents or secretaries of the various allied organizations represented in the government printing offices including the printers, the pressmen, the photographers and the Women's auxiliary, and also by President Gompers and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor.

After the meeting the statement was made that no definite action of any character had been taken and that the time had been used in discussion. No time was set for a meeting and it is stated that the present intention is to wait for a time to see what action Public Printer Palmer will take in the case of Miller against whom charges of unfitness have been preferred. Aside from the interest aroused by Miller's reinstatement the members of the various organizations represented say they realize that there is a broader aspect to the whole case. They feel that the president's ruling in Miller's case particularly makes the government printing office an open shop in which a man or woman may be employed whether members of any union or no. They are very anxious that the chief executive find some way in which his ruling may be modified so that this condition of affairs will not arise. They are very much exercised over the matter and hope some solution will be found and that the government printing office in which the employes are members of various unions will not become an open shop.

THIRTEEN PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM A CALIFORNIA PRISON

One Guard Dead From Wounds Received and the Turnkey Probably Fatally Injured—Prison Officials Used as a Shield and Convicts Escaped Unwounded.

By Associated Press.

Sacramento, Calif., July 27.—A special to the Bee from Folsom says: Thirteen desperate prisoners confined in Folsom penitentiary made a break at the breakfast hour this morning. They seized Warden Wilkinson, his grandson Harry Wilkinson, Captain of the Guard R. J. Murphy and several other officers of the guard, and using them as a shield against the fire of the Gatling guns proceeded to the armory post, overcame a guard who sought to stay them, armed themselves with rifles and pistols and escaped across the prison ranch into Eldorado county.

A desperate fight took place in the captain's office where the prisoners made their break. The convicts were armed with knives and razors and with these they assaulted Warden Wilkinson and his officers. The warden's clothing was slashed into shreds with a razor, but the blade did not touch the flesh.

Turnkey's Brave Fight.

C. J. Cochrane, turnkey of the prison, entered the office during the assault and seized a chair with which he made for the assailants of the officers. He rained blows upon them right and left but he was felled by a knife thrust in the back. It is thought he may die.

William L. Cotter, a guard, was cut in the abdomen so that his entrails protruded. He died this afternoon.

W. C. Chalmers was severely cut in the head with the razors in the hands of the convicts. The floor of the captain's office was covered with blood.

The Men Who Escaped.

The break occurred about 7 o'clock this morning. The names of the convicts who escaped are: Mike Miller of Fresno, serving 12 years for burglary; H. Eldridge of Alameda county, serving 30 years for burglary; J. Theron of San Francisco, serving life for robbery; Fred Howard of San Francisco, serving 25 years for robbery; J. H. Wood of San Francisco, serving life for robbery; E. Davis of San Francisco, serving 33 years for robbery; J. J. Allison of San Joaquin, serving four years for robbery; J. Murphy of Contra Costa, serving 14 years for bigamy; A. Seubin of Sacramento, serving 25 years for bigamy; J. Roberts of San Francisco, serving 20 years for robbery; R. M. Gordon of Sacramento, serving 15 years for robbery; Ray Fahey of Sacramento, life robbery; L. J. Case, Los Angeles, life robbery. The two latter are third termers.

The several hundred remaining prisoners made no show of resistance and

INTERESTING REVELATIONS [illegible] TRIAL [illegible]

Crowell & Lombard also represented the gang as attorneys, and that they would see Lombard and Duff.

Mr. Morris. I move to strike out any matter as to who was acting as attorneys for the gang, unless it can be shown that these people were connected in that way. It is incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and I move to strike it out.

Motion denied. Defendants except.

Court. Proceed.

A. That they would see Lombard and Duff and see if they could get the balance of the money. I told them, all right, that was what we wanted, to get the money to return to the boy. They came in a day or two later and stated that they had secured the money from Mr. Duff and would pay it over on certain conditions. I told them——

Q. WHAT WERE THE CONDITIONS?

A. I TOLD THEM THAT I WOULD RECEIVE THE MONEY AND SEND IT UP ON ANY CONDITIONS THEY WANTED TO NAME, AND IF IT WAS SUITABLE, ALL RIGHT. THEY SAID THAT THE CONDITIONS WERE THAT THERE SHOULD BE NO FURTHER PROCEEDINGS TAKEN AND NOTHING WOULD BE SAID ABOUT THE MATTER. THAT WAS ABOUT ALL IN THAT CONVERSATION.

Q. Did they hand the money then? A. They gave us the money.

Q. How much.

A. One hundred twenty-five dollars.

Q. What did you say as to that proposition? A. I told them that we would take it and send it to Wolcott, Vaile & Waterman on their conditions and see what they said about it; that we had no choice in the matter ourselves.

Q. Did you take it and send it and report their statements?

A. We took it and sent it to them, relating the conditions just given to us, and by the next mail it was returned.

Q. Did you then have a communication with the defendants? A. We then sent it to Mr. King and Mr. Atkinson by mail, stating to them that Wolcott, Vaile & Waterman would not accept it on the condition that no proceeding should be taken.

Q. Did you have a further talk with them on the subject after that? A. They brought the money again into the office the——

Q. How long after you sent it back to them? A. The next day, I believe; and stated that they would pay it to us on the simple condition THAT WE REFRAIN FROM TALKING ABOUT IT IN THE PAPERS. I told them we would do that and we would speak to Wolcott, Vaile & Waterman of the same condition.

Q. Was there anything further said except that you would not talk about it in the papers? A. No, sir, not at the last.

Q. Was there anything said about not prosecuting the last time when they brought the money back? A. Nothing.

In Hand Cash.

Q. Was this money handed to you in currency? A. In currency.

Q. Both times? A. Both times, I am quite sure.

Q. How did you send it? A. We sent our own check.

Q. How did you send it back to the defendants? A. I think we sent our check back to them.

Q. All this took place in what town or city? A. Colorado Springs, El Paso county.

Q. What county and state? A. El Paso county, state of Colorado.

Q. Where did you say McNellis had been given the $25? A. Here, in this city.

Q. In Colorado Springs? A. Yes, sir.

Q. El Paso county? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you have any further communication with either of the defendants after that on this subject? A. I have talked with them a number of times, I think, since then, in a general way.

Q. Upon this subject? A. Upon the subject of the case and the trial.

Q. I mean in regard to the facts of this transaction between you and them, the money business? A. No, sir, I think not.

Mr. Gardner. Do you want to make any further statement? A. It will be brought out on cross-examination.

Cross-examination by Mr. Morris.

Q. You never saw Mr. McNellis yourself? A. No.

Q. You don't know where he was when you got this money for him? Mr. Trowbridge. Of your own knowledge. A. No.

Q. You were interested simply because McNellis claimed to have been robbed on the Denver & Rio Grande train? A. We were simply interested as attorneys for the Denver & Rio Grande company.

Q. That was the ground on which you sought to get the money back? That is the only interest the railroad company had in the matter? A. That is all.

Q. Do you know, by corresponding with him, or in any way, where Mr. McNellis went to from here, or where he was after he left here? A. We never corresponded with him. I only know that from a letter received from Wolcott, Vaile & Waterman, in which they stated where he went and where they had sent the money to.

Q. Where did the money go to? A. To Kansas City, I believe.

Q. Did the defendants in this case, King and Atkinson, signify a willingness to help get this money, at the first conversation you had with them?

Objected to as calling for a conclusion of the witness.

Q. Did they object, either of them, to helping you try to get the money?

Same objection. Calling for a conclusion.

Overruled.

A. They did not.

Q. Did they not, then, both of them, signify a willingness to do anything they could do to help you get the money?

Objected to as calling for a conclusion and not a fact.

The Court. Let us have the conversation, and the fact; not the conclusion.

Q. What did they say with reference to trying to help get the money back? A. They said they would make an effort.

Q. In your investigation of the matter as attorney for the railroad company did you obtain any knowledge in any way showing that Mr. McNellis had been kept away or that he was being hidden out anywhere?

Objected to as not proper cross-examination and calling for a conclusion of the witness, and not material or relevant to the guilt or innocence of the defendants. This man wasn't charged with the duty. It is invading the province of the jury to ask him whether he did this. He may not have made any effort about it. He was looking after something else. He had nothing to do with that. Whether he obtained such knowledge, or not, would not help this jury in ascertaining whether the defendants should allow that man to go away; who was the man that knew about this matter?

The Court. It would not be proper to bind these defendants by statements of irresponsible parties or parties who hadn't any connection or right to make any such statement of the transaction.

Defendants except.

Q. Did you not know, as a matter of fact, that when you received the letter to investigate this matter that Mr. McNellis was in Denver?

Objected to as immaterial and irrelevant, and not proper cross-examination.

The Court. Objection overruled. If he knows.

Defendants except.

A. I don't know.

Knew the Gang.

Q. Now, when you talked with these defendants about this matter did they tell you that they thought they knew who the parties were that had taken McNellis' money? A. They did.

Q. And they would see whether or not it could be gotten back for him. A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say that when they brought the money they asked you whether or not if the money was paid back there would be no prosecution? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did they say against whom there should be no prosecution? A. Yes, sir.

Q. DID THEY SAY THAT THEY HAD GOTTEN THE MONEY FROM THOSE PARTIES WITH THE UNDERSTANDING THAT THERE WOULD BE NO PROSECUTION? A. NO; THEY SAID THEY PAID IT ON THAT CONDITION.

Q. That the other parties had paid the money over on that condition, that there would be no prosecution?

A. NO; I UNDERSTOOD IT, THEY PAID IT TOGETHER ON THE CONDITION THAT THERE WOULD BE NO PROSECUTION.

Q. You don't know what the other parties might have said to these defendants? A. No; only as they told me.

Q. Didn't the chief of police, or both of these defendants, say to you that they didn't want any undue notoriety about the matter, if they went and got the money back for Mr. McNellis? A. They did.

Q. Before that there had been some newspaper notoriety about this transaction had there not? A. I think something had been said in the papers from Denver.

Q. Was there anything said in the conversation or conversations between you and the defendants about trying to get McNellis back here to prosecute these people? A. No; I believe not. But there was something said as to why they didn't start a prosecution against the people.

Q. Did the defendants tell you that the reason they didn't commence a prosecution was because they could not keep him here? A. They said that the boy wanted to go away. He didn't want to stay, and that they had considerable difficulty in getting them to prosecute a thing of this kind, and they thought, therefore, if they could get part of the money back that that was the best way to close it up.

Q. They told you in that conversation, did they not, that they had done everything they could do to try to keep him? A. I could not answer that just that way. They told me, however, that the boy didn't want to stay.

Q. And they could not do any good prosecuting these people unless he did stay? A. Yes, sir.

Talk With Defendant.

Q. In that conversation did you say to the defendants, or to either one of them, that in order to prosecute successfully the man would have to come here and stay until after the prosecution was over? A. I don't remember having said so.

Q. You may have said so, in the conversation? A. I would not have said it just that way, Judge.

Q. How did you say it, then, if you said it?

Mr. Trowbridge. I object to how he said it.

The Court. He said he would not have stated it that way.

Mr. Morris. Then I asked him what he did state to them.

The Court. He says he don't recollect of having said it.

Mr. Morris. But he virtually admits that he may have said something on that line, but not exactly what I said.

The Court. Ask if he said anything on that line.

Q. Did you say anything to them on that line whatever? A. I don't remember of saying anything.

Q. Do you recollect of their saying to you that they could not prosecute the case unless the witness McNellis was here to testify? A. I do.

Q. They said that to you? A. They did.

Q. Why didn't the Denver & Rio Grande company seek, rather, to prosecute this man than to get the money back, if you know?

Mr. Trowbridge. If you know?

Mr. Morris. That is not right——

Mr. Trowbridge. Then I will object to it as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and not proper cross-examination, and tending to throw no light whatever on this case, why or why not the Rio Grande company didn't prosecute this man.

Sustained. Exception.

Q. You got—as far as you know the Denver & Rio Grande company made no effort to prosecute these defendants who were suspected of having taken McNellis' money, did they?

Objected to as immaterial, incompetent and irrelevant and not proper cross-examination.

Sustained. Exception.

Q. Did you, as attorney for the Rio Grande Railroad company, suggest to the officers from whom you received your instructions that these people be prosecuted and that the witness be kept here? A. No, sir.

Objected to as not proper cross-examination. No matter whether he ought to have prosecuted them, and didn't question as to whether these men ought to have pursued the course they did, and as to whether or not he suggested a prosecution.

The Court. He has answered.

Mr. Trowbridge. I move to strike it out; what his acts were or were not.

The Court. Motion sustained. Gentlemen of the jury, the last answer of the witness to the previous question propounded by counsel will be stricken out of this case and totally disregarded by you.

Defendants except.

Q. Then, the only thing you did, as attorney for the Rio Grande Railroad company, was the attempt, and successful attempt, to get this money back, the balance that Mr. McNellis had lost? A. That was all.

Q. And that is all you tried to do. A. That was all.

About Prosecution.

Cross-examination by Mr. Trowbridge.

Q. You said, in response to a question on cross-examination, that they asked you if there would be no prosecution; did the defendants ask you if there would be no prosecution, or did they state they didn't want any prosecution, or that the persons from whom they received the money delivered the money on the ground that there would be no prosecution? A. They didn't state either way.

Q. What is the fact?

A. They first gave me the money, stating they paid it with the understanding that there would be no proceedings of any kind.

Q. Now, then, you stated they did say at that time who there should be no prosecution against, your answer to Judge Morris was, I understood you? A. I don't understand.

Q. YOU STATED ON CROSS-EXAMINATION THAT THE DEFENDANTS DID SAY WHO THERE SHOULD BE NO PROSECUTION AGAINST? A. YES, SIR.

Q. WHO DID THEY SAY? A. THEMSELVES.

Q. As to what the other parties said to the defendants you stated you knew not, only as King and Atkinson told you what they said? A. That is all.

Q. What was it they told you on that? A. I don't know what you refer to now.

Q. In your answer on cross-examination you were asked by Judge Morris if they told you what the Duff gang said, you were asked if you knew what the Duff people said, and you said you only knew what these defendants said the Duff people said; what was that? A. I don't remember they told me anything they said specifically, except that they gave them the money.

The Conditions.

Q. I understood you stated they said they had been instructed to deliver the money under certain conditions? A. No, sir; I didn't so state.

Q. They did that themselves? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You stated on cross-examination that the defendants in this case said that the boy wanted to go away and that they could not do anything without him; you said, all they said that they had taken any steps toward prosecuting the Duff people for taking money from this boy? A. No; they did state this, however, I think probably I should state it.

Q. The Duff gang as to whether they had taken out any complaint or tried to institute any proceedings? A. They stated that the boy didn't want to remain here, and that in this case, as in other cases, where it would be hard to prosecute, they thought it would be best if they could secure some of the money, to secure it. They also stated that they had been advised to do that by the district attorney's office.

Q. Who did they say they had been advised by? A. The district attorney.

Q. As to what? A. In cases of that kind, where it was doubtful whether they could prosecute or not, successfully, if they could get part of the money to take it.

Q. Did they state that they had made any complaint to the district attorney's office of the Duff gang, or informed the district attorney's office that the Duff gang were the persons that had taken this money, in their judgment? A. No, sir.

Q. Did they state that they had given any information to them, except that they could not succeed? A. Not that I remember of.

Atkinson Paid It.

Re-cross-examination by Mr. Morris.

Q. Who paid you the money, I want to ask you that?

A. I think Mr. Atkinson handed it to me; but it was one of them. I am not sure whether it was Mr. Atkinson; they were together, I believe.

Q. Handed you the money? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And it was at that time that mention was made about there being no prosecution? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When the money was first handed to you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, might they not have said "persecution" instead of "prosecution"? A. I didn't so understand it.

Q. I know you don't now recollect it, but might they not have said "persecution" instead of "prosecution"? A. I didn't understand them to say that.

Q. Did you not understand from these defendants that if they went and got that money that they didn't want any persecution to be directed against the police three with reference to this matter?

Objected to it as conclusion.

The Court. You may state what was said about that matter, instead of what was understood. Give us the facts.

A. When the money was first paid to us I understood the condition to be that there would be no prosecution against them and that there would be nothing said by the papers about it; when it was paid the second time it was only on the condition that there would be no newspaper notoriety, but no other condition.

Q. Before the money was paid over had there been any discussion with reference to prosecution? A. There had been, yes.

Q. With reference to whom? A. Themselves.

Q. And that was at the time when the money was paid over the first time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And at the time it was finally paid over there was nothing said except that they didn't want any newspaper notoriety? A. That was the only condition then.

A CHICAGO BUSINESS MAN.

Wm. N. Selig, a well-known business man of Chicago, Ill., in a recent letter from 43 Peck Court, Chicago, Ill., says:

"After having used several remedies for indigestion without beneficial results, I was induced by a friend of mine to try Peruna, and gladly say that it effected a positive cure.

"I have lately recommended it to several of my acquaintances as I firmly believe it is all that is claimed for it."

WM. N. SELIG.

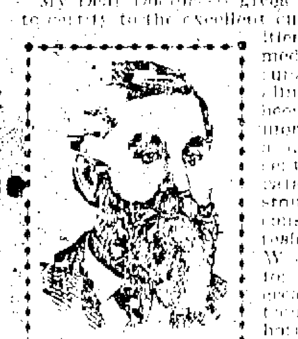

In catarrh of the stomach, as well as catarrh of any other part of the body, Peruna is the remedy. As has been often said, if Peruna will cure catarrh of one part it will cure catarrh of any other part of the body.

Catarrh is catarrh wherever located, and the remedy that will cure it anywhere will cure it everywhere.

House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, O.:

My Dear Doctor—It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your medicines—Peruna and Manalin. I have been afflicted more or less for a quarter of a century with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicines have given me almost complete relief and I am sure that a continuation of them will effect a permanent cure. Peruna is surely a wonderful remedy for catarrhal affections. J. D. Botkin.

J. D. BOTKIN.

This is a case of catarrh of the stomach which had run for twenty-five years, according to his statement, and Peruna has at once come to his relief, promptly accomplishing for him more benefit than he had been able to find in all other remedies during a quarter of a century.

It stands to reason that a man of wealth and influence, like a congressman of the Great United States, has every ordinary means at his command to find a cure.

If such cases as these do not verify the claim not only that dyspepsia is due to catarrh of the stomach, but also that Peruna will cure catarrh of the stomach, it is impossible to imagine how any evidence could do so.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

THE DANGER OF MOB RULE.

IN ANOTHER column will be found a letter sent by Professor William James of Harvard university to the Springfield Republican discussing the recent lynchings which have taken place in this country.

Professor James takes hold of the question in a vigorous and, it seems to us, a logical way. He believes that those editors and publicists who are speaking of mobs of lynchers as "misguided individuals," or those who are "trying to right wrongs" are taking a very casual and shallow view of a very serious situation.

Dr. James' view is that there is inherent in man a spirit of savagery that has come down to him from his ancestors and which, unless constantly curbed and restrained, is quite likely to break out in lynchings and other forms of lust for blood.

It is not merely then a desire to wreak vengeance, much less a desire for justice, as it is an inherent desire to kill and destroy. Undoubtedly there is in most persons in a greater or less degree the spirit of destruction; we see it even in the babes; it grows stronger with age unless it is restrained by habit, by education and by a due respect for law and lawful agencies.

It is very clear that if this spirit of destruction and of taking human life is permitted to become unrestrained we shall speedily have a reign of riot and carnage throughout the land. Every riot and every lynching tends to make men more forget their obligation to be law-abiding and helps to fan the flame of mob rule. There is only one way in which this spirit can be stamped out when it shows its head, and that is by force; by the only way in which force can assert itself; through greater numbers and through the use of rifle and bullet. It is a hard lesson, but it is the only way to cope with the spirit of lawlessness; the only one which the mob will respect.

Meanwhile, by constant effort, by education, by pointing out that mob rule menaces every home in the land, that it menaces every one of our cherished institutions, we may be able to check the reign of lawlessness and bring an era of peace and soberness.

A TOWN WITH A GRIEVANCE.

IF THE view of the judge advocate general of the war department is correct, and we see no reason to doubt its accuracy, a town, as a town, cannot be libeled. The matter came up in this way: General Fred Grant is charged with the command of an army post at Brackettsville, Texas. Since the abolition of the canteen the town has permitted the erection of a number of groggeries close at hand to the army post. Their vileness was unspeakable, and the fact that they were permitted to flourish was the ground for some rather vigorous language on the part of the brigadier in his annual report.

Brackettsville heard of it and became indignant. Complaint was lodged with the war department, but that didn't do much good, for the department seemed to think that Grant was about right. Then the town threatened to sue for libel. The judge advocate considered the matter, and finally told the town in substance that it could not sue, that is, as a municipality, for libel, on account of the alleged disrespect shown to it. But if any individual citizen felt that he was maligned or injured in any way by the thrusts of the general, he was at liberty to go ahead.

So then we have an opinion upon the subject which seems sound. It is well that it is. For, consider how seriously New York has felt over the jibes for harboring a Tammany ring; or St. Louis for being the home of boodlers; or Philadelphia for having rings without number; or Boston for being composed exclusively of devotees of beans and Browning, and so on and so forth. The libel suits would clog the courts from one end of the land to the other if every town could bring suit against its alleged defamers. So Brackettsville is to be congratulated at least for developing a question that has an interest for the entire country.

The prosecuting attorney in the Missouri bribery cases has had recourse to a novel plan to secure the letters written by ex-Governor Lee to Daniel J. Kelley, the agent of certain firms and individuals interested in pending legislation. Kelley, for reasons over which he had no control, to-wit, indictments from the grand jury for bribery, is unable to be present, being detained by a continuous engagement in Canada. However there was no objection to a subpoena for Mrs. Kelley, and she was invited to come to St. Louis and tell what she knew. She also brought with her the incriminating letters from Lee to Kelley. Therefore, it will all be shown in due season whether or not Governor Lee was entirely truthful when he alleged that the money which he received in such large sums was for advertising in his country newspaper or for the purpose of influencing legislation.

The continued disregard for the law which is being shown in Breathitt county, Kentucky, indicates that the condemnation which has been visited that county by the people of the nation has been without the slightest moral effect. Only two nights ago a man who, in the pursuance of his duty, had given evidence to the grand jury was fired upon from ambush, in the usual style of the feudists, and narrowly escaped death. A few days ago Captain Ewen, who returned for the purpose of giving certain testimony, was obliged to travel in an express messenger's box until he reached his destination and was surrounded by soldiers. Such a state of affairs is an everlasting disgrace to the state of Kentucky, and can only be remedied by a resort to radical measures at the hands of the lawfully constituted authorities.

The story that Pueblo is likely to do a large part of the smelting business that has hitherto been done elsewhere in this state is not at all unreasonable. Three-fourths of the smelting ore of the Colorado mines is a good deal nearer Pueblo than it is Denver, and the only reason it hasn't gone there before is that the smelters were first built in Denver.

That those who are afflicted with the gambling habit have no respect for anything, whether it be secular or religious, is emphasized by the request made on the part of the Italians that they be permitted to bet on the election of the pope and turn over a share of their winnings to charity.

The Denver papers are reporting that some of the legislators are still lingering in Denver. They hate to desert leather-cushioned chairs and $7 per day for the rail fence and hay field.

UNCLE SAM LEADS IN EXPORTS.

IT APPEARS to be Uncle Sam's turn to felicitate himself on the fact that this nation has during the past year outstripped every other country on the globe in its exports. Hitherto, Great Britain has had a long lead. In fact, in 1870, our exports were only one-fourth those of that country. But while she has been practically standing still the United States has been going ahead by leaps and bounds. The race last year was very close, but the United States won by about $11,000,000 in total exports, amounting to $1,392,000,000.

The reasons for this supremacy are numerous. The workmen of the United States turn out a larger amount of finished product in proportion to the wage paid than those of any other country. They are enabled to do this because of their superior skill and intelligence and especially because they have the advantage of all the very latest improvements in labor-saving and time-saving machinery. Furthermore, the vast amount of raw material, the improved methods of handling it, the rapidity of transportation and many other factors enter into this race for supremacy. Never before have the details of manufacturing been watched as closely as they are today. Five cents a ton in the handling of material, for example, may enable a concern to do business at a profit that would otherwise be done at a loss. There is every reason for believing, therefore, that the United States will continue its leadership, now that it has attained it, for a long time to come.

Mr. James J. Hill very promptly denies the report that he is in a gigantic lumber trust to corner the product in this country. The general impression seems to be that Mr. Hill has all the trusts on hand that he can take care of.

QUESTION TIME IN PARLIAMENT.

Question time in parliament is often enlivened by diverting incidents, for the subjects are frequently parochial to a degree. An equestrian challenges the ministry for the mud in Rotten Row, or an Irish member demands that something be done for the tobacco of old Ireland. In this behoof Mr. John Redmond recently asked if the Irish department of agriculture was continuing the experiments in tobacco raising. He was told that tobacco had been raised which, when mixed with American leaf, could be smoked. Another member, not satisfied with the reply, pushed the question home:

Mr. Flavin (Kerry, N.)—May I ask the right honorable gentleman the chancellor of the exchequer whether he has formed any opinion about the sample of Irish tobacco which I gave him a few evenings ago? (Laughter and cheers.)

The Chancellor of the Exchequer (Mr. Ritchie)—I have not tried it myself; I have given it to a friend to try. (Loud laughter.)

Mr. W. Redmond—May I ask the right honorable gentleman whether the friend is the colonial secretary? (Laughter.)

Mr. Flavin—Is it not the fact that the right honorable gentleman himself expressed an opinion in favor of the quality of the tobacco, so far as he could judge?

The Chancellor of the Exchequer—It had a very nice aroma (laughter), but I do not know whether that was due to the Irish tobacco or the American tobacco which was mixed with it. (Laughter.)

Mr. W. Redmond—May I ask the right honorable gentleman the colonial secretary whether he will turn his attention to this subject? (Laughter and cries of "Order.")

The Speaker—Order, order. There must be some order in this matter.—(New York Post.

THE OFFICIAL BUNCO GAME.

The Telegraph, defending our indicted police force—Joel Atkinson—says:

"It takes two to play a bunco game."

That remark is inspired by Atkinson or else the Telegraph is well informed on the methods of the city's indicted detectives.

When a man robbed by a bunco game applies to the police, the bit of information contained in the above quotation is the first thing he hears.

The plan upon which those in authority who want to aid bunco men proceed, is to threaten the victim with arrest for gambling, or to tell him that the bunco men only make complaint and have him arrested; that he is liable to arrest and the man who robbed him has a perfect right to demand his arrest; that he will be thrown into jail; that his trial will probably not come off for a year and he will either have to lie in jail all that time or send east for bondsmen (for victims are usually tourists). Then he is told that they "will see what can be done." Then a small part of the money is brought back, and the victim is told that he'd better take that and shut up or he may be arrested.

Note how completely the Telegraph covers this practice in a few lines:

"It takes two parties to play a bunco game and both should be arrested and kept in jail or placed under bonds until the courts can sit upon the case."

It is easy for the bunco man to give bond; but the tourist will have to go to jail.

The Telegraph clearly understands the official bunco method.—(El Paso County Democrat.

CHICAGO'S CITY DIRECTORY.

In this peculiar book one can find Sugar, Milk, Coffee and Ribbon. There are also numerous Ribbons. There are Victories, but no Defeats. There is Sunshine, but no Moonshine, though there are several Moons.

In the whole list there is only one Medal and one Bone. The latter is registered as a musician, too. There is also just one Big. There are, however, three Bigger and four Biggers. There is one Miser, but no Hermit. There is plenty of Beer. Beer appears three times, and there is one Booze, but not a single Thirst.

There is Music in the book, accompanied by Harmony. In relation to the music it should be stated that there is not a single Alto. There is Bass galore, while the Soprano and Tenor are supported only by Peter and William, respectively, who are also, respectively, a barber and a laborer.

To the credit of the book it should be said that, while there is Justice in large quantities, there is not in the new directory a single Injustice. Light there is, but it is unaccompanied by either Dark or Darkness.—(Chicago Inter Ocean.

WOMAN'S IDEAL MAN.

The ideal man as women would make him out to be if their tastes were consulted as a recipe would be indeed an Impossible He! He would be a creature never seen on land or sea—a monster that only a feminine Frankenstein could create. He would be part Sunday school teacher and part Don Caesar—beautiful of face and manly of form—yet without vanity; quick with his sword, yet a paragon of mercy to the afflicted; deeply intelligent, yet never preoccupied; with a soul of a poet and the pocketbook of a broker; a good judge of a bonnet, and not too particular as to cooking; charming of temper, quick to forgive feminine faults; grand of character, yet an adept in drawing-room persiflage. Such a man if he existed would have to live in a cage and be looked at and photographed for he would not be companionable to women or to men. He would be a freak, to be seen at a distance and never to be loved, for when we look deep we find that we like people more for their faults than their virtues.—(Kate Masterson in Ainslee's.

Something of Whistler's Personality

With James Abbott McNeil Whistler there passes away one of the most brilliant and eccentric artistic personalities of the last half century. In many ways he was set apart from the ordinary run of mankind; not only by the originality, power, and imagination of his peculiar genius as a painter and etcher, but by his striking physical characteristics, his indefatigable egotism, his Whistlerian wit, sparkling, cynical, or [illegible] at will, which would have made him famous even if his brush had never shown their cunning.

There is some uncertainty, fostered by himself from some whimsical motive, regarding his exact age or the precise place of his birth, but according to the commonly received version, he was born in Lowell, Mass., in 1834, his father being a civil engineer, who had won considerable eminence by his railroad work in Russia. It was in that country that the young painter spent much of his boyhood, but on the death of his father he was sent back to this country, where he entered West Point. There [illegible]

He was taken to England, [illegible] reached Paris, where he became a pupil in the studio of Gleyre. There he remained about two years and during this time published his first set of etchings—twelve plates and for the usually called the "French Set." They were renderings of street scenes, interiors, and figures, and were published by Delatre in 1858, with a dedication to Seymour Haden. It was a few years after this time that his first important picture, "The White Girl" (1862), was refused. It was, however, [illegible] the jury of the Salon. Then he returned to London and settled in Chelsea, where he spent the greater part of his life [illegible] as that of Carlyle himself.

It was not long before he attracted attention in the artistic, literary and social world of London [illegible]

[illegible]

Whistler's personal appearance was as striking as his work. [illegible] Mr. Whistler, in the course of his career, won many artistic distinctions in the way of medals, etc., and was an honorary member of many artistic societies [illegible].—New York Post.

[illegible] AT HIAWATHA PARK

A good-sized audience witnessed the initial production of "Bohemian Girl" by the Hiawatha Park Opera company at Manitou last night, and judging from the frequent applause they were more than pleased with the work of the excellent company in this most tuneful opera.

The "Arline" of Miss De Bold was a delightful rendition of this pleasing role, as was the "Thaddeus" of Mr. Pearce. Individual hits were numerous and nearly every principal was recalled for some of their musical numbers. Mr. E. L. Graves, as "Devilshoof," O. L. Jeancon as "Count Arnheim," were most excellent. Miss Marie Dickey as the "Queen of the Gypsies," appeared to the best advantage and received several encores for her solos. A new face among the principals was noticed last night, that of Miss Alma Aldersly, in the role of "Florestein," the foppish nephew of the count. She also was most successful and is a desirable acquisition to the company.

AN EXCURSION TO COLORADO COLLEGE

A special students' excursion from Denver to Colorado Springs for the purpose of allowing those who are thinking of entering Colorado college this fall an opportunity to visit the city and inspect the institution, will be run by President Slocum and Prof. Smith next Friday. The president and faculty of the college have been making a wide canvass through the northern part of the state this summer in the interests of the college and have found many young men and women who are considering the college for their higher education. Many graduates of the High schools of Denver are thinking of coming to school here this fall and it is for their benefit that the special excursion is to be run. It is thought that over 100 students will come down to this city next week with their friends to look over the campus and through the different buildings.

COLORADO CITY TAXPAYERS HAVE A LIVELY MEETING ON WATER QUESTION

Resolutions Adopted Demanding that Proposed Purchase be Submitted to the People.

At a meeting of about 60 of the large taxpayers of Colorado City at the city hall last night resolutions were adopted providing that a committee of five be appointed by the chairman of the meeting with instructions to wait upon the various members of the city council and urge upon them the advisability of submitting the question of purchasing a water system, and the issuing of bonds for the same, to a vote of the taxpayers of the city and that in the event that the council fail to comply with this request the committee be empowered to engage competent counsel to take such legal steps as may seem necessary to enjoin the council from purchasing said water rights.

The events leading up to the adoption of the resolutions were spirited if not sensational. J. B. Faulkner was appointed chairman of the meeting and W. P. Epperson secretary. As soon as the officers for the evening were chosen the pot began to boil and when the resolutions were passed upon the heat was at the highest.

No sooner had the chairman announced that the meeting was called to discuss the action of the council in having made the purchase of the Finley right and storage rights than there were a number of men on the floor demanding recognition. The expectation of some of those present was that the committee of five that had visited the fights yesterday were to report, but it was given out that the committee was very tired and would report later.

Some Speeches.

J. B. Stephen was called upon and gave a very strong talk in favor of submitting the matter to a vote of the people if such a [illegible] be resorted to. He questioned the fact that the right purchased will supply sufficient water [illegible] said that the burden of the tax would fall upon the poor people of the city. He stated that Manitou with a right calling for six times as much water has gone dry no less than half a dozen times since the system was installed. He argued strongly in favor of letting things stand as they are, saying that we are now being supplied by the best water system in the world.

Then William Gesford secured the floor and held it for some time. He argued that the rights purchased had been fully investigated by every member of the council and the mayor and that the action of the council was not made hastily. He went into financial calculations to some extent and showed wherein Colorado City would profit by having a system of its own. Mr. Gesford accompanied the committee yesterday and he spoke in strong terms of condemnation of the water supply now received by Colorado City.

This argument was vigorously opposed by others present, the stand being taken that Mr. Gesford was entirely wrong in his description of the situation. Representative Stephen then suggested the query, "Have we any assurance that the citizens will continue [illegible] water if we have a system of our own?" Around this point a great deal of discussion centered, after which the [illegible] maintained that the reason why Manitou went dry was because the time they were short of water they did not have ample storage facilities.

Says Run Dry.

Henry Templeton made a few [illegible] remarks that were very well received. He proposed a thorough [illegible] compliance with the condition of the [illegible] streams in the locality of the Finley right and averred that there are many times every year when there is not a single drop of water in the creek the Finley right depends upon for its water. As a taxpayer he was not willing to run the risk of cutting off from Colorado Springs. He was satisfied with the present system.

Then W. P. Epperson took the floor and made some very [illegible] remarks. He reviewed the history of the right. His historical argument tended to show that the Finley right is not so valuable as the amount the council have agreed to pay for it. He said that he would not object to the payment of $15,000 for [illegible] that [illegible] is not worth more than that amount for the reason that the amount of water it will furnish is just about sufficient to supply the city when running at its full capacity and that there would not be any water for storage purposes. He stated that Manitou is not [illegible] as [illegible] in their right at the present time.

Mr. Cambiegh [illegible] made a strong plea for submitting the question to the [illegible].

Albert Allen introduced the resolutions which were adopted after the acceptance of an amendment written by Mr. Epperson. The resolutions which were adopted are as follows:

The Resolutions.

Whereas, The city council at its last regular meeting entered into a contract for the purchase of certain [illegible] water rights and [illegible] steel and,

Whereas, It is stated that it is the intention of the said city council to bond

J. B. Stephen and Others Believe Present Water Supply Should be Retained.

the city to pay for said rights and to build an independent water system for Colorado City, without consulting the taxpayers as to the advisability of said purchase, and,

Whereas, A large number of prominent taxpayers are decidedly opposed to such an undertaking at this time, feeling that the city is fortunate to be already connected with one of the best water systems in the state and that no emergency exists which would warrant the council in taking such hasty action, and,

Whereas, It is the opinion of many that the council is unwise [illegible] that the city were to [illegible] an independent system, agreeing to pay an exorbitant price for certain [illegible] rights which must yet be established through expensive litigation, and,

Whereas, It is the general belief that the Manitou [illegible] water rights and [illegible] are [illegible] the beginning of a heavy bonded indebtedness which must rest as an [illegible] by overtaxed people if the plans of the council are carried out.

And whereas, It is evident that the council has failed to properly consider how burdensome the obligations are which it proposes to fix upon the taxpayers of the city, contrary to the wishes of many.

Therefore, be it resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that a committee of five [illegible] taxpayers be appointed by the chairman of this meeting, with instructions to wait upon the various members of the city council and urge upon them the advisability of submitting the question of purchasing a water system and the issuing of bonds for the same, to a vote of the taxpayers of the city, and,

Be it further resolved, That in the event of the council failing to comply with such request, this committee [illegible] is hereby authorized to engage competent counsel and take such legal steps as may seem necessary to enjoin the council from purchasing said water rights.

The amendment was as follows:

And be it further resolved, That in the event the proposition is submitted to a vote of the people, the city council secure the services of the best engineer to report on the feed [illegible] the proposition.

The committee which the resolutions authorized the chairman to appoint are as follows: J. D. Faulkner, Epperson, J. J. Preston, C. D. Taylor, Frank Ferris, R. W. Irwin.

GRAPHIC ACCOUNT OF THE [illegible] THAT [illegible] AT REHEARSAL FOR ELKS' SHOW

"Come now, everybody in place for the opening chorus. Let's hurry tonight, please," and Tommy Getz, with smothered hair and calm demeanor, stands on the Opera house stage ready to rehearse the participants in "A Night in Bohemia," which the Elks will play August 6 and 7, for their charity fund. There is a scurrying of feminine feet and a scuffle of larger pedal extremities of the male cast, many a parting giggle and chuckle until the line is formed. Twenty young ladies, dark-eyed, blue eyed, gray eyed and all pretty, stand in line facing the footlights and behind them a row of thrill Elks. Everything is ready, the piano strikes up and they sing,

"Last night by moonlight my baby and me Went down to Coontown a-hot time to see."

"Hold on, hold on! Wait a minute!" and Getz's calm demeanor underwent a slight change. "Go back, form again. And you, Trux Morris, take that gum out of your mouth so we can hear you sing," and once more they started for "Coontown." This time there was a burst of melody that fairly lifted the reporter off his feet, and they swung into line in perfect unison and cake-walking high in the air they prance through the gate on their way down the lane. "Rubber! rubber! rubber!" yells Getz, "and smile as you exit," and with waving handkerchiefs and smiling faces they try it again.

As Getz explained it to the Gazette reporter, to "Rubber" is to smile and look over one's shoulder as they exit, instead of keeping one's face from the audience. So on the night of the performance the dudes and other habitues of the front rows are not to flatter themselves that any one is flirting with them. Then Tom [illegible] and Dolly appeared. Dolly is sweet and demure and Tommy is a stage-struck boy. They sing and dance and Tommy drives Dolly around the stage with side elbows. Then the Salvation Army enters, four demure little lasses and four of the old members of the lodge. This turn is immense to the uninitiated but they did something to [illegible]. Getz [illegible] his [illegible] and shout, "Easy love, there, [illegible] you Van Rouse, cut out that Sunny [illegible] business. This is no barking bush [illegible] step. There, that's good. Now [illegible] Sweet Woozie, will you please [illegible] little ginger [illegible] effect when you [illegible] the [illegible] on the christening, [illegible] that banner so the people can see it. Good, that's something like it."

Then Davis Rhodes (D. A. Gillespie) and the Irish policeman, Callihan (H. Jones) enter and this scene is a strenuous one that [illegible] for a doctor to test and regulate Getz' heart and the singing qualities of the performers. This scene is a corker and brought many laughs from those present and the like of the costumes were never seen in the heavens above or on earth below. "Now the rainbow," yelled Getz, and six handsome young fellows sang a song, were escorted under [illegible] umbrellas by six handsome men [illegible] midst a burst of music and dazzle of colored lights, went through the steps of a pretty dance, "quit talking in here," yelled Getz, "it's getting so these rehearsals sound like a bird store," and his hair became a wild tangle of wavy black. He even tried to pull some of it out. "Now, Chop Suey Charlie, you take your place there and we'll try 'Pinky Panky Poo,'" and with the scent of [illegible] [illegible] filling the theater eight couples of ladies and gentlemen sing and dance for all the world like Japs. "Wag your heads there," yelled Getz, "and [illegible] Jim Thornton, get a little more action on the chop sticks, [illegible] now sing," both they sing a song so sweet and they were so pretty that the reporter closed his eyes and wished he was a little Jap and in love with a geisha girl. Then came "Under the Bamboo Tree" by 20 young ladies, all [illegible] Hottentots. This is [illegible] made to get one, in which [illegible] of paper ribbons are used.

The American Spirit of Fair Play.

It is [illegible] to bring the American loves on a level with liberty, in fair play.

To the [illegible] and unassuming spirit of fairness [illegible] due much protection of [illegible] property that the law alone could not give.

The lesson of this spirit [illegible] in such organizations as the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and in that manly feeling in a crowd which will not permit a big bully to beat a man half his size without running the risk of being himself beaten by an onlooker, with sign of disapproval.

But if such a bully merits condemnation, what shall be said of the assassin and the incendiary, and of the gossip-monger, who ruins reputations, starts a "run" on banks, or poisons the public mind against a worthy enterprise, for the mere pleasure of gossiping, or the deeper design of injuring another to his own profit.

Small slanders are smiled at, and passed over lightly, because of the [illegible] amount of damage they can do, but when they are of such a nature and design as that against which the notice of a Buffalo corporation is today directed in this paper, they assume an importance which makes them impressive, and the reader indignant that there is no law to reach the offenders.

Fifty million packages of "Force" Food had been sold before it occurred to someone to circulate a rumor that it was drugged to promote appetite.

The absurdity of the rumor is apparent when it is considered that there is not a single case on record of these fifty million packages having injured a single individual.

Aside from this, the government inspection of foods, and the health department of every city, would have promptly put a stop to the sale of any food, sold in such quantities, which contained any unwholesome ingredient whatever.

That the "Force" company are fully aware of the insidious nature of such a rumor, and suspect an interested origin, is shown by their offer of $5,000 reward for the conviction of its initiators or circulators.

Their further offer of $5,000 more for proof that a single package of the fifty millions sold contained any injurious substance whatever, (being made solely from whole wheat and barley, seasoned with table salt), shows how empty such rumors can be, and how energetically the "Force" company follow up an attempt upon their market.

The magnitude of the injustice done is indicated by the fact that it has cost the "Force" company over $50,000 to refute the rumor in the newspapers of the United States and Canada, exclusive of such injury as may have been temporarily done to the sale of their product.

Automobilists' Parade and Programmed for Thursday

Arrangements for the automobile parade to be held next Thursday were made at the meeting of local machine owners held at the rooms of the chamber of commerce yesterday morning. The parade will form in front of the Antlers hotel next Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock, moving north on Cascade avenue to the college campus. The pictures for which the parade is to be held will be taken near the campus.

O. L. Foster, official photographer for the Rock Island road and B. H. Blackwalter, the local moving picture man, will take several views of the parade at this point. At the Glockner home the parade will turn east to Nevada avenue, moving south on Nevada to the court house, and west on Vermijo street to Cascade avenue. At Bijou street the parade will turn to Tejon and up Tejon street to the college reservation again, where the ranks will be broken. It is thought that every automobile owner in the city will participate in the parade and that a creditable showing can be made.

Owing to the small attendance yesterday morning steps could not be taken towards forming a local automobile association.

Russian Fortune Tellers Seek License From the City Fathers

Chairman Dunbar of the council finance committee, Mayor Harris and City Treasurer Hoagland are wrestling with the problem of Russian fortune tellers and the license which they should be charged for foretelling the future.

Three men, who said they came from Moscow, Russia, called at the city hall yesterday morning and asked to see the city treasurer. They were dressed in the garb of the Russian, with fancy colored toggery, and wearing the usual amount of cheap jewelry. They explained as best they could that they wanted to get three licenses for their three women, who, they said, were camped in a covered wagon just outside the western city limits. They were informed that the license would be $30 a month for each fortune teller, making a license of $90 a month in all.

While they did not know enough English to talk very well, they knew that $90 was a big license, and they made their opinions known by declaring "No, no," "too much, too much," and throwing their hands over their heads and walking up and down the floor in front of the treasurer's office. The problem was too much for the treasurer and he called upon Mr. Dunbar to determine the matter. When the difficulty was explained to the chairman of the finance committee, he said, "We'll have to have $90." He thought how much that would amount to if it were added to his dog fund, and he stuck to his declaration, regardless of the mutterings of the Russians and the waving of arms.

Mayor Harris happened to be in the building and he was called on to settle the difficulty. When he took up the matter, he got down a volume of the city ordinances showing that $30 a month must be collected from each fortune teller, and he backed up the treasurer and Chairman Dunbar. The third man was too much for the Russians, and after producing a receipt to show that they worked Denver nine months for $36, as proof of the fact that they were being held up, they walked out of the city hall and threatened to get their women in order to bring additional pressure to bear on those who, they thought, were trying to hold them up.

Pueblo Day Will Bring Big Crowds

That Pueblo day, August 8, at the Garden of the Gods Chautauqua will be a success and in point of attendance at least will be one of the banner days of the Chautauqua, is assured. Dr. John R. Robinson, president of the Chautauqua, yesterday received the following letter from E. W. Palmer of the Pueblo Business Men's association which has "Pueblo day" in charge.

"Pueblo, Colo., July 25, 1903.

"Dr. John R. Robinson, Colorado Springs, Colo.

"Dear Sir:—We are working on the matter of Pueblo day at the Colorado Springs Chautauqua and have affairs in good working order. We this morning closed a contract with the Colorado & Southern for a special train to leave Pueblo at 8 a. m., Saturday, August 8, and expect to take a big crowd. I want full information regarding the horse show on the same date as we are going to use that as one of our drawing cards. Also I want a large number of your Chautauqua catalogues, say 1,000, which we will mail to persons in this city. Let me hear from you as soon as possible so we can get to work on the advertisement of the train."

AMUSEMENTS

THE BOSTON ENTERTAINERS.

Popular Clint Draper and the Boston Entertainers are booked to appear at the Opera house on next Friday and Saturday evenings and a family matinee Saturday afternoon. Popular prices of admission will be charged. Evening prices, 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents; matinee prices, children, 15 cents; adults, 25 cents. The entire country, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, appears to have gone wild over light amusements. The craze started long before "the good old summer time," and judging from the universal concensus of opinion it will require more than autumn and freezing temperature to kill it.

That element which delighted in forgetting for an evening the serious side of life can no longer be designated as "class" but assumes the gigantic proportions of "everybody."

Vaudeville, to be sure, of the "polite" quality, has swept all before it, and even the staid old playhouses of the largest eastern cities have had to recognize this new factor and act accordingly.

No matter what else may come and go behind the footlights, the average individual wants to be amused first, and that is just exactly what vaudeville does, at least so far as the majority of the patrons of the playhouse goes.

Comedy, catchy airs, pleasing melody, graceful dancing, laugh-provoking jokes, humorous monologue, and like specialties, appeal to nine out of ten people, and during the heated term especially it may embrace the other one who enjoys the more elevated standard of entertainment.

Kidnaper Foley Took Child to Kansas City Yesterday

W. A. Welsh, the driver of the rig used by F. B. Foley in the kidnaping of his 2-year-old daughter at Cripple Creek Saturday night, was arrested in this city yesterday morning.

He was turned over to a deputy sheriff of Teller county shortly after 5 o'clock and taken to Cripple Creek over the Short Line.

The local police have learned that Foley purchased a ticket for Kansas City yesterday afternoon and left at 2:50 over the Santa Fe.

This fact has been communicated to Sheriff Robinson of Teller county, and he will wire the police at Kansas City.

Unless Foley gets off the train between here and Kansas City he will doubtless be taken by the police of that city and held for the arrival of the Cripple Creek officers. Mrs. Foley has been prostrated over the loss of her child, and has been confined to her home since the kidnaping occurred. She is rendering all the aid possible, and the utmost effort will be made to capture Foley and compel him to return the child. Mrs. Foley was awarded the custody of the child by the courts about a year ago as the result of a divorce proceeding against her husband. Foley was not satisfied with the order of the court, however, and determined to override the law and take the child forcibly.

After the child had been kidnaped from the dance hall at Cripple Creek, Foley ordered a two-horse buggy from Welty's livery stable, and was driven to this city, reaching here about 5 o'clock Sunday morning. Welsh, the driver of the buggy, put it up at the Antlers livery, where he was arrested later in the day. He protested his innocence to the police when he was arrested, and says he knew nothing about Foley except that he wanted to go to Colorado Springs. He will be charged with being an accessory to the kidnaping, however, and the Teller county officials claim they will be able to prove his connection with the crime.

Rock Island Dispatcher's Office is Removed to Goodland, Kansas

The dispatching of trains on the Colorado division of the Rock Island will hereafter be done entirely at Goodland, Kan. Until yesterday all trains on the division between Goodland and Colorado Springs were handled here. The orders abolishing the Colorado Springs office were issued by the general superintendent's office. No cause is assigned officially, but it is the belief of the local officials that the change is due to the fact that formerly all dispatching for Colorado was done at Goodland and the dispatcher's office was removed here mainly because the division superintendent resided at Colorado Springs.

It has been rumored that this office will also be moved to Goodland, but little credence has been given it as Colorado Springs is the Colorado terminus of the system. The Denver-bound trains of the Rock Island use from Limon Junction the Union Pacific tracks and as soon as Limon is left the trains pass under control of that road being handled by the Union Pacific dispatchers at Denver. As a terminal point, however, this city will continue to be the office of a division superintendent or assistant superintendent. The rumor is persistent, however, that the superintendent's office will be moved.

Goodland is 188 miles east of Colorado Springs. The entire dispatcher's office, from the chief dispatcher to the operators, left yesterday for their new office.

AFFIRMATIVE WINS THE SUCCESS CLUB DEBATE

"Resolved, That the Government Should Own and Operate the Railroads" was the subject of an interesting debate before the T. P. Day Success club last evening at the First Baptist church. The affirmative side of the question, represented by Arthur Hansen and Logan Randolph won. Archie and Lester Bainum had the negative. Some good points were brought out by the negative and their side was well supported. Current events were given by Chester Brumback. S. Lee Bierbauer acted as critic. Five new members, J. M. Delinder, E. H. Vaughn, William Bartlett, William Cort and S. L. Bierbauer, were taken into the club.

The club will hold its next meeting August 10. The debate will be "Resolved, That the State Should Regulate the Laborers' Day to Eight Hours." Arld and Thomas will represent the affirmative and Henderson and Brumback the negative. S. L. Bierbauer will give current events and William Bartlett is down on the program for a declamation.

COLORADO CITY, JULY 28.

CONGREGATIONALISTS TO BUILD CHURCH THAT WILL COST IN NEIGHBORHOOD OF $5,000

The Congregationalists of Colorado City are planning to build a new church. Negotiations are now pending for the site, and as soon as this has been settled upon, work will be begun on the structure.

Rev. F. W. Hullinger said yesterday that the church owns two lots in the east end of the city, but that these are not so suitable a site as is desired for the new edifice, and that he is negotiating with two real estate firms for an exchange of these lots for others that are more desirable. There is a site just across the street from the Whittier school that is very much in favor among the trustees of the church, and an offer on these lots is being considered by them. There is another site under consideration but it is not looked upon with so much favor as the one first mentioned.

The new church building will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000, and will be built of brick and stone. Architect Smith has charge of the work of drawing the plans, and he will submit a perspective drawing to the pastor in a few. The new church, according to the pastor, will be modern in all its appointments. There will be a very neat little study for the pastor, a room for the choir and a room for the young people's society, aside from the lecture room.

Mr. Hullinger, who has been in Colorado City but a few months, has reorganized the congregation and has already increased the membership materially. While pastor of the Congregational church at Hayden he built a new church and left it entirely without debt on leaving the pastorate.

The boys went to Manitou and boarded an excursion train going to Denver. The conductor found them and sent them home on the next train.

ENJOYED OUTING—The Colorado City Women of Woodcraft had a very enjoyable outing at Stratton park Sunday. A number of the members went out in the afternoon and remained until after the concert in the evening.

A LARGE AUDIENCE AT JUBILEE SINGERS

The Orpheus Jubilee singers last night proved their popularity with Colorado Springs people beyond the shadow of a doubt. An audience that filled the First Christian church to the doors and windows listened for two hours to their wonderful rendition of the old plantation songs and melodies, and even then were loth to let the singers leave the platform.

The concert last night was the first of the regular Garden of the Gods Chautauqua course and was given in the city for the fact that the Chautauqua does not open until August 5. Two Jubilee singers were here at the Chautauqua last season and the demand for their return led to procuring them for this preliminary date. The Chautauqua management is this year giving a great deal of attention to the musical part of the season's program, and the number given last night was only one of many delightful musical events that are in store for those attending the assembly.

EVANGELIST SMITH'S MEETINGS CONTINUE WELL ATTENDED

The Union Christian Endeavor meeting conducted by C. C. Smith was well attended last night. The interest is increasing. This afternoon at 3:30 Evangelist Smith will conduct a bible reading at the Y. M. C. A. An invitation is extended to all. Tonight's theme will be "Stand Forth; Stretch Forth." Special music is one of the prominent features of these services. The First Methodist Epworth league quartet composed of Arleta Perry, Lillian Rouark, Charles Hart and Frank Hart will sing two selections, besides there being other special music.

ASK FOR INFORMATION ABOUT COLORADO SPRINGS

Secretary Henry Russell Wray of the chamber of commerce has received a letter from the New York World and the New York Journal requesting material for the free information bureaus that are being run by those papers. Secretary Wray immediately mailed the papers boarding lists, health books and other advertising matter.

URGED TO COLLECT WASTE AND DO MORE SPRINKLING

A decided complaint has been made to the chamber of commerce against the condition of the streets and gutters of the city. Those making the complaints have sent communications to Henry Russell Wray of the chamber of commerce, decrying the presence of dirt and filth in the gutters, and urging that the streets be sprinkled more frequently in order to lay the dust.

Mr. Wray will present the matter to the meeting of the chamber Thursday afternoon and it is probable that action be taken. It is probable that one of the actions taken will be the sending of a communication to the city council, asking that steps be taken by that body to abate the nuisance.

BELDING WITHDRAWS REQUEST FOR WRIT OF SUPERSEDEAS

The motion for a writ of supersedeas in the case of Fred W. Belding, filed several days ago, was withdrawn yesterday. No reason for the withdrawal is given. Two motions for a new trial have already been made in this case, both of which have been overruled. The application for a writ of supersedeas was made directly after the last motion was made.

At the close of the trial Judge Seeds sentenced Belding to the penitentiary for attempting for not less than five nor more than seven years. He was found guilty of a statutory offence, the charge having been brought by his stepdaughter. Withdrawing of the application the judge will direct that Belding be taken to the penitentiary for the service of sentence. This order will be made as soon as the King-Atkinson cases have been disposed of.

$5,000. Reward for the Arrest and Conviction of the parties who originated and circulated the rumor that "Force" Food contained drugs or other injurious ingredients.

$5,000 additional will be paid to anyone proving that "Force" does, or ever did, contain any drug or other injurious or unhealthful ingredient, being composed solely of Wheat and Barley, with a seasoning of table salt, steam cooked, flaked, and roasted.

Do us the justice, if you question the absolute purity or healthfulness of "Force," to send a package to the Health Department of your city for analysis.

The "FORCE" Food Company. BUFFALO, N. Y.

BOSTON, June 25, 1903.

The "Force" Food Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

GENTLEMEN—A rumor having reached me that your product, "FORCE," contained injurious ingredients, I took the occasion to analyze it in the interest of my own family and of some friends who are liberal users of it.

It may interest you to know that I found it consisted exclusively of Whole Wheat, Barley and Salt, and is absolutely free from any injurious elements whatever.

Permit me to express my sincere regret that such a serious and baseless rumor should gain footing with the public.

You are free to use this letter in any way that will help to do your product justice.

Yours truly,
WILBUR L. SCOVILLE.

Massachusetts College of Pharmacy.

BOSTON, June 30, 1903.

To Whom It May Concern:

At the invitation of The "FORCE" Food Company, of Buffalo, I have visited their Mills and made a careful examination of the materials from which "FORCE" is prepared, and the processes which convert it into its finished condition.

I found that "FORCE" consists exclusively of what my previous analysis indicated, viz.: Whole Wheat and Barley, with a flavoring of Table Salt, flaked, cooked and sterilized by 300 degrees of heat.

A feature of the manufacture which impressed me considerably was the fact that the process is wholly mechanical, the food being prepared, cooked and boxed by machinery, without ever coming in contact with the hands or clothing of the mill operatives.

I was also gratified to note that an experienced Chemist daily supervised the entire output, and that each day's manufacture was also tested by an expert cook.

Signed, WILBUR L. SCOVILLE,
Professor of Theory and Practice of Chemistry.

Chemical Laboratory, University of Buffalo.

The "Force" Food Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

GENTLEMEN—In view of the rumors regarding the alleged adulteration of "FORCE," it has been a satisfaction to me to visit your Mills, investigate, and analyze your product.

You are free to publish this statement made over my signature, that I found "FORCE" to be absolutely pure, consisting solely of Whole Wheat and Barley, flavored with table Salt, and free from any injurious substance whatever.

I examined, in detail, the various steps in the manufacture of your product, such as the steam cooking, the flaking and the roasting, as well as the packing, and find all to be remarkably clean and of absolute healthfulness. The final roasting is done at a temperature above 300° F., which, with the steam cooking, completely sterilizes the product, and the entire process, from the first step to the final sealing of the package, is a mechanical one, the product at no time coming in contact with the hands or clothing of the persons handling the machines or packages.

Very respectfully,
HERBERT M. HILL,
Chemist to the City of Buffalo.

See page 148 of "Cereal Breakfast Foods," Bulletin No. 84, of the Maine Experiment Station, a State Institution, which has analyzed "FORCE" with other foods, in the public interests.

Copy will be mailed free on request.

Refer also to Canadian Government Bulletin 84 on similar subject, pages 6 and 29, for analysis showing that "FORCE" consists solely of the most wholesome and nutritious ingredients.

Any inquiries concerning this subject will be cheerfully answered by

A Story of Sports

RELIANCE DEFEATS [illegible] AGAIN IN THE [illegible]

By Associated Press.

Newport, R. I., July 27.—After today's race between the Reliance, Columbia and Constitution, in which the former boat again demonstrated her superiority over the other two, the challenge committee of the New York Yacht club selected the Reliance as the defender of the America's cup.

It was also decided to discontinue the trial races. Messrs. Morgan of the Columbia and Belmont of the Constitution were perfectly satisfied with the choice of the committee. They are both of the opinion that the Reliance is the fastest of the trio. From the showing of the three boats during the season the Reliance is fairly entitled to be the defending vessel. In every race she has crossed the finish line ahead, and has lost but few events on time allowance. It is probable that the defender will proceed to Bristol for a general overhauling.

The three yachts raced over a leeward and windward course. There was a puffy northwester of 15 miles strength blowing when the starting signal was given at [illegible]. The Reliance was first across the line. The Constitution crossed soon after and the Columbia followed a couple of seconds behind the handicap gun, at 11:32.

The Constitution ran by the Reliance shortly after the start and at 11:40, when the Columbia was almost on even terms with her, the Reliance set the spinnaker flying on the starboard hand. The new boat felt the effect immediately and slowly regained the stretch of water that separated her from the Constitution and turned the mark just ahead of her. Meantime the Columbia had fallen away in the rear. The yachts turned the outer mark as follows:

Reliance 1:10:[illegible]; Constitution, 1:10:37; Columbia, 1:11:[illegible].

Hauling sheets around the mark the Reliance began beating out to weather of Constitution. They went about on the port tack about 2:10 and after that the new boat drew ahead and to windward steadily. The Columbia sailed a fast race to windward due by fortunate slant of wind close under the Newport shore, hauled up so much on the Constitution that she latter barely beat her across the finish line. Summary:

Boats.	Start.	Finish.	Elapsed Time.
Reliance	11:30:[illegible]	[illegible]	3:33:[illegible]
Columbia	11:32:[illegible]	4:20:11	3:38:11
Constitution	11:31:[illegible]	4:00:16	3:38:[illegible]

GRAND CIRCUIT RACING WITHOUT POOL SELLING

By Associated Press.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 27.—Clevelanders were treated today to the novel sight of a grand circuit trotting meeting without pool selling, the courts having prohibited it. This action was the result of the crusade started by Mayor Goff of Glenville, in whose limits the Cleveland track is located. The crowd was one of the smallest in years, while the fields in the several races also were smaller, in spite of the fact that the entry list had been unusually large. Summary:

2:11 trot, $2,000—Allie Ward won both heats. Time, 2:10, 2:09½.

2:06 pace, $2,000—Fannie Dill won second and third heats and race. Time, 2:06¼, 2:06½. Little Squaw won first heat in 2:04¼.

2:25 trot—John Taylor won both heats. Time, 2:11¾, 2:11¼.

2:18 pace—Tom Keene won both heats. Time, 2:07¾, 2:05¼.

With the inclosed dividend check for the regular quarterly dividend of 3 cents per share the following detailed statement of the receipts and disbursements for the past six months is submitted

The results of our operations have not been as profitable as for the same period during the year past due to the reason that during the months of March April and May our ore was of a low grade During these three months we barely met expenses. The net profits for the month of June however were in excess of $[illegible] and the directors have hopes that the next three months will show an improvement in the values

We have had a large flow of water to contend with in the lower level and it has taken a much longer time than we had anticipated to overcome this It is now gradually receding. Up to May 1 we were pumping from 600,000 to 700,000 gallons each 24 hours from the 1,200 foot level but it is now only about [illegible] gallons. This has been very expensive besides retarding development work. [illegible] the ore [illegible] the 1[illegible] foot level

During the past six months we have taken out two 100-horsepower tubular boilers and installed one Babcock & Wilcox water tube 267 horsepower [illegible] thereof making [illegible] at the plant This will enable us to have [illegible] out of commission at all times and keep them all clean and in perfect repair, which will save something on our fuel bills

We have also made arrangement with the Midland Terminal Railway company to haul away our waste [illegible] charge provided we furnish [illegible] dump area. We have contracted for [illegible] of this to be delivered this coming month [illegible] will cost [illegible] necessary [illegible] about $[illegible] This became necessary on account of the small amount of ground remaining that we could use for dumping purposes We should have been obliged to [illegible] our elevating our [illegible] if we had not made this arrangement with the railway company

In the future as in the past the board of directors will authorize the payment of extra dividends whenever the earnings of the property will justify same.

BOSTON CAPITALIST IN OIL AND GOLD FIELDS

W A Lane a leading broker of Boston Mass has been spending ten days in the interests of a Boston syndicate looking over the Florence oil fields and the Cripple Creek mining district. He has been devoting especial attention to the southern portion of the Florence district and was well pleased with the showing being made in Salt Creek section. He stated that he and his backers are prepared to expend $50,000 to $100,000 in the oil fields if the showing justifies the outlay

He said: "I am greatly pleased with the showing made in the Florence oil district and especially with the prospects in the southern portion of the district I think the Salt Creek region will yet prove to be the most valuable part of the district and am [illegible] that it only needs capital to open up the [illegible] of that section. I have had a lengthy talk with Engineer J W Case of this city regarding the geological conditions which exist there and I have received a written report from him upon that section I found that the region visited had been underestimated and the picture [illegible] the slightest coloring. Yes I am greatly pleased with the results of my trip and am confident that we will open some large wells there." Mr Lane was accompanied by Mr Beirs of Boston

MOTHER'S FRIEND

MARY McKINNEY WILL RESUME AUGUST FIRST

An officer of the Mary McKinney Mining company stated yesterday that the big bonanza will resume with a force of 80 men August 1 this force to be increased to 100 men as soon as possible. The mine has been shut down about three weeks owing to changes to the shaft house which have become necessary and which have consumed several weeks to effect. In addition the company has been installing a [illegible] washing machine which will be in place in the next 48 hours after which a few additional repairs are to be made and the big plant will again be in readiness for business

The washer is said to be the finest equipment of its kind in the district and by means of it something like [illegible] tons of ore can be washed daily, effecting a saving in collecting the dust and fine particles of rich ore that have heretofore been lost under the old method of handling the mine's product. Under the new arrangement the ore is received into a hopper that feeds it into a large cylinder the sides of which are perforated with half inch holes. This shell is kept constantly in revolution and as the ore goes tumbling to and fro the screenings drop through the holes into a receiving bin of 100 tons capacity and later to be loaded directly through the chutes into ore cars on the railroad tracks below. The coarse rock is passed through the washer which is simply another cylinder six feet in diameter and 10 feet long half submerged in water. The ore is rotated to and fro effecting a complete washing of every particle of rock. The slimes are later collected and dried and shipped to the mill to be treated.

The Mary McKinney company [illegible] improvements [illegible] to [illegible] the method of handling the waste rock has been improved [illegible] and [illegible] the handling of the [illegible] possible. The installing of the washer and the new arrangements [illegible] shaft house will [illegible] on the operating [illegible] of the mine

IMPORTANT MINING CASE DECIDED IN DENVER COURT

Judge Owers in the district court of Arapahoe county yesterday handed down a decision in a case in a suit which to all intents and purposes is unique in the annals of mining in Colorado. The point involved was plainly charged by one mining engineer against a colleague who in making a report on a property for Georgetown mining brought into the same connection [illegible] employed by the former [illegible] on mining property

The case was the suit of E P B[illegible] a mining engineer of Denver who was suing the Manhattan Union Mining company of Denver the Boston [illegible] Investment company [illegible] Wilcox and Frank Oliver to recover $2,000 [illegible] friends alleging that Oliver committed [illegible] in making a report on the Manhattan Union company [illegible] property. Judge [illegible] of this city appeared for the [illegible] Benton & Brock of Denver [illegible] plaintiff

It appears that Oliver [illegible] was employed [illegible] on the property of the Manhattan company which adjoins the W[illegible] property in the Georgetown mining district. [illegible] it appears had made a report [illegible] the latter some time ago and when Oliver's report appeared [illegible] parts of the Manhattan [illegible] company the photography employed [illegible] describing the geological formation of the Manhattan group was found to be similar [illegible]

BURLINGTON ROUTE TOURIST CAR SERVICE.

The Burlington announces that beginning the 19th inst., a daily tourist sleeper will be operated in both directions between Denver and Chicago on train No. 2 east bound leaving Denver 10 p. m., and train No. 3 west bound leaving Chicago 10:30 p. m. Cars have been definitely ordered into the service and are the best ever built by the Pullman company. A uniformed Pullman porter accompanies each car, and passengers are thus assured the same attention as if they occupied a berth in the standard sleeper, while the rates are much less. For instance, $1 over night, as against $2 in standard; $1.50 Denver to Omaha, as against $3.50 in standard; $2.50 Denver to Chicago, as against $6 in standard, etc. Each berth accommodates two persons if desired without any extra charge.

These cars are not so expensively finished nor so fine to look at as a palace sleeper, but are just as good to ride in. They have clean linen, clean bedding, good ventilation and neat wash and toilet rooms, and are in every way just as comfortable as a palace sleeper. This new feature of travel will be appreciated by the Colorado people who have hitherto been obliged to depend upon the service offered by the through sleepers from California which has been more or less unsatisfactory owing to the uncertainty of making connections in Denver. Now one can go to Denver and be sure of a berth in a nice clean tourist sleeper, because the cars are made up at Denver. Write G. W. Vallery, General Agent, Denver, for reservations.

MODEL TIME TABLE FOLDERS
Model time table folders, which are superior to any time table folders ever printed, have been issued by the New York Central's passenger department. They are numbers "29" and "30" of the famous "Four-Track Series," and both are literary gems and compendiums of railway travel. General Passenger Agent George H. Daniels has incorporated various suggestions made by bright people, and he has tried to include in these folders all that could reasonably be put into such books.
They are worth a prominent position in every library, and on every business man's desk.—(From the Buffalo Commercial.

G. A. R. POST WILL GREET DELEGATES

The members of Colorado Springs post No 22 Grand Army of the Republic are now making their plans for the entertainment of the delegates to the thirty-seventh national encampment of the G A R next month at San Francisco It is estimated that 15,000 delegates to the convention will stop off in Colorado Springs either en route or on their return

The Connecticut and Missouri delegations have already been heard from and it is thought that many other delegations will also visit the vicinity among them being the Kansas Nebraska Iowa Indiana and Ohio parties It is not yet known whether the national officers will make the trip via Colorado Springs or not

The veterans will begin arriving here about August 10 and will remain from one or two hours to two days. It is planned to erect a large tent near the depot in the Antlers park where tables, chairs writing materials and advertising matter will be placed and where an information bureau will be established A reception committee will be appointed to meet all trains

The members of the post will complete arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors at their next regular meeting to be held next Tuesday evening

BURROS WILL TRAVEL OVER A NEW TRAIL

The old route to the summit of Pike's Peak will be opened this morning and the burros which have been precluded from the new route by the ukase of the water department will travel to the summit over the route used by the United States government when the signal station was first built

This change in the route affects but a comparatively small part of the entire route however The old route will be used for the distance of two miles extending between Lake Moraine and the point of intake of the Colorado Springs water system The route that has been used for several years has been to the left of Ruxton creek In using the old route however the burros will use the right bank of the stream The scenes along the route will be practically the same only they will be seen for a short distance from a different point

This change in the route of the burro trail is the result of the order of the health and water departments who feared that the water above the intake was being polluted by tourists who camped along the creek and [illegible] of the burro trail which ran along the side of the mountain above the stream

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET STRONG AFTER EARLY WEAKNESS

By Associated Press

New York July 27—The failure of another stock exchange firm announced shortly after the opening this morning renewed the feeling of nervousness and prices were again forced to a lower level There were violent declines in some of the stocks in which the failed firm was immediately interested A number of the standard railroad stocks at the same time sold down from 1 to 2 points under Saturday's level But even during this period of initial weakness there was manifest a good absorption of stock and points of strength persisted against the depression

Later in the day when it was said no further failures would be announced the tone of the market became very strong and the early losses were wiped out even in the weak stocks while the general level of the market rose to a substantial level over Saturday night The demand was especially conspicuous for New York Central St Paul Southern Pacific Reading Illinois Central and stocks of a like substantial grade Some large orders were executed in these stocks and at other points throughout the market some prices ended the day from 1 to over 2 above Saturday's level for prominent stocks and at much wider advances for the less active securities Some of this buying was to cover short contracts and a considerable portion of it was by professional operators for a turn in the market on the long side But here was an improved demand for investment both in stocks and bonds and stock exchange commission houses showed an increased confidence in advising their customers to buy

Only a few of the inactive stocks showed such violent falls as have characterized the recent market which pointed to a conclusion that there was less pressure to close out unmarketable securities figuring as collateral in loans and improvements in facilities for securing accommodation The recent contraction of credit in the stock market has been largely due to distrust of such operations as those in which the recently failed firms have been largely engaged involving as they did inflation and manipulation of the values of securities The letting out of this inflation has really brought a sense of relief from the oppression of artificial conditions hanging over the market and sustained with difficulty These held over projects are quite apart from the earlier ones in which the syndicates were successful in holding up prices until their holdings were taken off their hands and which have left behind them also the [illegible] of financial distress and disappointments But with the passing of the syndicate interests in these and the abandonment of the final support the stocks have been allowed to sink to the level natural to the changes in their status The recent failures represent the abandonment of efforts to sustain by main strength the prices of securities The market for which has passed and the closing out of affairs which resulted is the cause of sensible relief in the market

There were fears that further failures would occur today and the strong [illegible] in the market was helped by the averting of these The market closed quiet and steady and only slightly below the top level

The bond market continued active [illegible] though there was good demand for some issues Total sales par value $3,227,000
